

David Levy Expands to Matched Layouts

Jewelers who make designs featuring numerous diamonds will benefit

David Levy Diamonds & Fine Jewels, a specialist in perfectly matched fancy-shaped diamond pairs, now offers a selection of perfectly matched diamond layouts. High-end jewelry designers and retailers with custom design businesses rely on such layouts.

The New York City company uses an extensive and difficult process to match diamonds, says David Levy. He begins by sorting parcels of polished diamonds to match color. Then he selects only those that also match brilliance. After completing this time-consuming process, Levy has all stones recut to ensure a perfect match. To ensure the highest level of quality control, Levy oversees all work, and everything is done in his own cutting shop in New York City.

“You can’t imagine how pleased I was when [you] completed an eternity band for my most difficult customer,” one retailer told Levy. Another retailer said, “My customer has incredibly high standards, and he wanted a very difficult ring – 15 perfectly matched ovals. David exceeded my expectations – and my customer’s – in every way. I always relied on him for perfectly matched pairs, but he’s on a whole new level now.”

Levy offers layouts of emerald cuts, Asscher-cuts, square and rectangular radiant cuts, ovals and princess cuts, with diamonds from 0.10 to 1.0 carat.

An eternity band with David Levy’s perfectly matched diamonds.

“Because we cut the diamonds in our own factory, we can customize a layout to fit the customer’s needs,” says Levy. “Whether it’s to fit a specific dimension or to graduate the sizes to accommodate a design, we try never to use the word ‘no.’ We also offer hand-fabricated or cast mountings in platinum or gold.”

◆ David Levy Diamonds & Fine Jewels, New York City; (212) 398-8952, david@diamondmatchmaker.com. 